Dear Vice Chancellor/Director,

गोंडवाना विद्यापीठ, गडचिरोली
सिवालय
आवक क्र. 524 दि. 11-9-17,
जावक क्र. .... दि. ....

I am writing this letter to you in connection with the Third World Disaster Management Conference being organized in Visakhapatnam during November 6-10, 2017 at Visakhapatnam by the Disaster Management Initiatives for Civil Society (DMICS) in collaboration with different stakeholders – national, state and local governments, international and regional organizations, scientific, academic and research institutions, civil society, media and corporate sector. This will be the largest Conference on disaster Management ever organized in the country.

2. The Conference would be organized in 30 Technical Sessions structured around 10 Thematic Clusters. Eminent Experts from a large number of disciplines – Earth Sciences (Geography, Geology, Hydrology, Meteorology, Environment), Engineering Sciences (Civil, Electrics and Communications, Electrical Engineering) Social Sciences (Sociology, Anthropology, Political Sciences, Economics, Public Administration), Medical Sciences (Emergency Medicine, Mental Health), Behavioral Sciences (Psychology, Cognitive Science), Management Sciences (Business Continuity, Supply Chain, CSR) – besides a whole range of practitioners from around the world will attend the Congress and speak at its various technical and plenary session. The Conference Secretariat has given a Call for Papers, which provides good opportunity to the faculty members and researchers of your University to attend the Congress and take part in its deliberations. An initial brochure of the Congress is enclosed. Further details are available at the Website <http://www.wcdm.info/?page=home>;

3. Considering the importance of the Congress and its coverage across multiple disciplines, the Association of Indian Universities has agreed to be the knowledge partner of the Congress. I would, therefore, strongly urge you to give wide publicity to the Congress and sponsor a few faculty members and researchers from your University to attend the Congress and take part in its deliberations. Nevertheless, for popularizing this initiative on Disaster Management and Control, we expect all the Universities/Institutions to nominate and sponsor at least one faculty member to participate in the event. Universities may also consider collaboration directly with DMICS.

Anticipating an early and favourable response.

With kind regards,

Yours sincerely,

DR, De
