International Summer Program in Identity-Based Conflict Resolution

Dear Sir/Madam,

Bar Ilan University (BIU) welcomes you to take part in the 2018 summer program in identity-based conflict resolution, directed by the BIU faculty of Law.

The faculty of law is known today as one of Israel's leading law schools, with approximately 30 full-time professors, about 80 adjunct professors, numerous distinguished short-term visiting professors from the world's leading law schools, and over 2,000 students in its LL.B., LL.M., M.A. and PhD programs. The faculty has a strong emphasis on conflict resolution and on constructive processing of tensions in the Israeli society.

During our summer program, you will engage in lively discussions, in-depth theoretical studies, intensive stimulating workshops, seminars and conflict simulations with top professors and students from around the world. Participants will gain theoretical insights and practical training with a wide range of applications.

The program will cover various topics including: Legal and Psychological Aspects of Identity Based Conflict Resolution, Collective Memory and Narratives in Identity-Based Conflict and Cooperation and Religion and Peacebuilding. In addition, a weekly day tour in some of Israel main sites and attractions will be held every Thursday.

This four-week interdisciplinary summer program will be take place between July 1st -26th, at Bar-Ilan University at Ramat Gan, centrally-located campus just outside of Tel-Aviv.

For more information, please see file attached and/or visit: law.biu.ac.il/en/node/3864 or contact our Project Director, Mr. Doron Cucos at: doron.cucos@biu.ac.il

Sincerely,

Prof. Michal Alberstein, chair
