5. a) Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions given below in your own language. 10

It is clear that language is used for more than one purpose. The man who hits his thumbnails with a hammer and utters a string of curses is using language to relieve his feeling and needs no audience but himself. But when a philosopher uses language to clarify his ideas on the subject he is using it as an instrument of thought. When the two women gossip over the fence, or two men exchange greetings as they pass in the street, language is being used to strengthen the bonds between the members of society. Language, it seems, is a multi purpose instrument one function, however, seems to be basic, language enables us to influence people's behaviour and thereby makes human cooperation possible. Some animals co-operative, especially the social animals like bees and ants, but human cooperation is more thorough, more detailed, more effective than that found anywhere in the animal kingdom. Human cooperation would be unthinkable without language.

Questions :

- i) How does common man use language ?
- ii) How many purposes of languages are revealed here ?
- iii) Why is language called a multi-purpose instrument ?
- iv) Mention two purposes for which language is used.
- v) How is human cooperation different from cooperation among bees and ants ?
- b) What is advertising and compare the style of advertisements in newspapers with the style of advertisement in magazines. 10
