

L.L.M. CBCS Pattern Semester-II
Course Code PLC06 - Jurisprudence

P. Pages : 1

Time : Three Hours

GUG/W/23/10140

Max. Marks : 80

-
- Notes : 1. Attempt all questions.
2. Each question carries Equal marks.

1. Analyze the scope of jurisprudence, including the concept of law, its nature, and its relationship to other disciplines.

OR

Examine the debate on the relationship between law and morals, including the arguments presented by John Stuart Mill, H.L.A. Hart, and Patrick Devlin.

2. Examine H.L.A. Hart's critique of natural law, including his arguments against the idea of natural law and his alternative theory of legal positivism.

OR

Examine Hans Kelsen's pure science of law, including his theory of legal normativity, his critique of natural law theory, and his influence on contemporary legal philosophy.

3. Examine the application of analytical positivism in the Indian legal system, including its impact on the development of legal institutions and practices, and its relationship to broader social, political, and economic contexts.

OR

Analyze Roscoe Pounds' theory of social engineering and theory of interest, including their impact on the development of legal institutions and practices, and their influence on contemporary legal philosophy.

4. Analyze the concept of rights in jurisprudence, including the historical evolution of rights, the different types of rights, and the controversies surrounding the nature and scope of rights.

OR

Discuss the doctrine of precedent, including the principles of stare decisis, ratio decidendi, and obiter dicta, and their application in common law systems as a source of law.

5. Discuss the concept of property, including the distinction between ownership and possession, and the different types of property.

OR

Discuss the critical legal studies movement and post-modernist jurisprudence, including their critiques of traditional legal theory, their contributions to feminist jurisprudence, and their impact on the study of law and society.
